Today’s offering supports Christian Record Services.

This morning, we invite you into the story of Tandi and her dad, Del—a doctor who spent decades caring for others but is now gradually losing his sight.

Tandi shares what it’s been like to watch him change—losing independence, confidence, and even the simple joys he once loved.

That loss follows him into church where he can’t read the screen or fully participate.

This is what is called the Quiet Crisis—when vision loss leads to isolation, even in places meant for connection.

Christian Record Services provides a lifeline of accessible resources and support.

As we give today, you can direct your offering to this vital ministry by marking “Christian Record Services” on your tithe envelope.

Please watch this video to see the powerful impact of that choice.

Today's offering goes to Christian Record Services to support people who are experiencing low vision and blindness.

I want to share a story with you about Tandi and her dad, Del. He spent his life caring for others as a doctor. His eyes were essential to his work, helping patients and serving his community every day.

But over time, Del began to lose his sight. Not all at once—but little by little. Tandi watched her father change. She describes it as a deep sadness ... almost like mourning the loss of who he used to be.

This loss didn't just affect his daily life—it followed him into church. Del shares that unless he sits very close, he can't read the words on the screen or fully engage in worship. He's present but disconnected.

This is what is called the Quiet Crisis—when vision loss leads to isolation, even in places meant for connection and belonging.

But there is hope.

Christian Record Services becomes a lifeline for people like Del—providing audio Bibles, accessible materials, and a supportive community that restores connection and strengthens faith.

Tandi shares that because of these resources, her dad is no longer isolated. Their family is reconnecting—laughing, listening, and experiencing joy together again.

And here's something important—these life-changing resources are provided free of charge, made possible by people like you.

Your offering today does more than fund programs. It brings people out of isolation. It helps them reconnect with their families, their church, and their faith. It gives them the ability to hear God's Word and experience the joy of belonging again.

Please join us in supporting this vital work. As the offering is taken, please mark "Christian Record Services" on your tithe envelope. Your support will make a meaningful difference in the life of someone facing the Quiet Crisis. Thank you.
